Kiln murder-arson charges laid; bond denied for local Navy man

by JAKE JACOB
Charles Edward Depreo, 18, native of Hancock County, charged Sunday with capital murder, aggravated assault, and arson, in connection with the death of Janice C. Ladner and the wounding of her daughter, Joy, 6, on April 8, was brought before Justice Judge Joe Dobson of Beat 4, Tuesday, in the Hancock County Courthouse.

Purpose of the hearing, held in the presence of immediate family and law enforcement officers, was to determine whether or not the accused had legal representation or required the services of a court appointed attorney.

Neither the victim's estranged husband, present at the hearing, Earl E. (Buck) Ladner, former State Representative, nor the press were permitted into the hearing room.

Judge Dobson, on being advised a court appointment would be necessary, bound the defendant over to a Circuit Court hearing in Gulfport, held later the same day.

Circuit Court Judge Floyd Logan appointed Tom Berry, Jr., to the case, who after consultation with the District Attorney, Albert Necaise - who had also been present at the Hancock hearing, reportedly announced the preliminary hearing will be at 10 a.m., Tuesday, before Justice Dobson, in Hancock County.

Depreo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eido Depreo of Kiln, was reportedly returned to an officially undisclosed location to be held without bond until the preliminary hearing.

Mrs. Louise Depreo said yesterday that she and her husband are standing by their son and engaged an attorney to replace Berry, although declining to reveal counsel's identity.

Stationed onboard the USS Independence, presently undergoing repairs at Portsmouth Navy Yard, Depreo was brought to Norfolk, Va., by the navy where he was turned over to Sheriff Sylvan Ladner, Chief Sheriff's Deputy Ronnie Peterson, both Hancock County Sheriff's Department, and Special Investigator Joe Price of the Mississippi Highway Patrol. Upon his arrest, Depreo waived extradition proceedings, and admitted to the slaying of Janice Ladner, whose burned body was found in the ashes of (DEPREO - PAGE 2A)

Saga stung by local opposition to oil land package development

by EDGAR PEREZ
The president of Saga Petroleum Company in Houston this week reported his company is "reviewing our whole operation in Hancock County from top to bottom" following a setback before the Mississippi Oil and Gas Board last Wednesday.

Stung by opposition from both political and private interests in Hancock County to a proposal to expand the minimum area for drilling a deep well from one to two sections, the company this week is studying the possibility of ceasing all operations in the Waveland Gas Field.

"When an oil company goes in anywhere, it must necessarily lease large areas of land for the sole purpose of developing its investment in a prudent manner," said Saga President Phinn Townsend from his Houston office.

"Especially in these cases where we're dealing with very, very expensive deep wells, if an operator can't justify his expenditure...and meets with a lot of unwarranted resistance...an operator just won't do it-he'll go somewhere else," Townsend stated. In its petition slated to be heard by the Oil and Gas Board last week, Saga was asking the board to adopt "temporary special field rules for the Waveland-Kiln Gas Field in Hancock County."

The temporary special rules would have raised the minimum area from one section or 640 acres to not less than 1,200 acres or more than 1,360 acres (or two sections) for wells drilled to and producing below depths of 17,000 feet.

Townsend said the larger area is necessary to insure later directional drilling before a company can commit the "tremendous expense" necessary to drill a deep well below 17,000 feet.

At an April 14 meeting, the Hancock County School Board, following receipt of a letter from Hancock developer Norton Haas, passed a resolution opposing (SAGA - PAGE 2A)

JUSTICE JUDGE Joseph Dodson, Beat 4, ordered murder suspect bound over to Circuit Court for the appointment of counsel after it was determined accused had no legal representation. Court in Gulfport, later on Tuesday, appointed Tom Berry, Jr. to case. Berry was replaced yesterday with an as yet unnamed attorney engaged by parents of suspect.

Chancery Court gains Stewart as candidate

William L. Stewart of Gulfport has announced his candidacy for Chancery Court Judge, Place One.

A former aide of Congressman William M. Colmer, he established a law practice in Gulfport in 1963, later entering the partnership of Palmer, Stewart and Gaines. He was appointed prosecuting attorney of Harrison County in 1968, was elected to that capacity the same year, and was re-elected two more times, his present term expiring at the end of 1979.

Appointed to the Harrison County Development Commission from 1966 to '68, he assisted in organizing the Junior Bar Association and was named its first president in 1966.

Registration deadline prompts extended hours at Courthouse

Voter registration rolls will be open at the Hancock County Courthouse from 8 a.m. to noon Saturday and again during the same hours next Saturday, May 6.

Circuit Court Clerk Henry Otis, who also serves as the county's registrar of voters, said his office will maintain the extraordinary hours to give prospective voters a chance to register prior to a Saturday, May 6, deadline.

Registration deadline to vote in Democratic and Republican first primary elections Tuesday, June 6, will be at noon Saturday, May 6, or 30 days prior to the election, Otis reported.

Seventeen-year-old youths who will be 18 on or before the Nov. 7 date of the general election are eligible to register now and vote in the intervening primaries, Otis pointed out.

"I am urging young people who will make 18 this year and those already 18 but not yet registered to get on the voter roles prior to the deadline," the official said.

Otis emphasized that there is no need for persons to re-register at this time if they are already registered and hold voter identification cards.

Party second primaries will be June 27 with winners in those races meeting in the November general election. Offices to be filled through the series of three elections include that of retiring U. S. Senator James O. Eastland, two District Eight Chancery (REGISTRATION - PAGE 4A)

Earl (Buck) Ladner thanks lawmen for murder case action

Following the arrest and charging of a suspect in the murder-arson death of his estranged wife, and wounding of his daughter, Joy Lynn, 6, former Justice Judge and State Representative Earl E. (Buck) Ladner issued the following statement to this newspaper:

"I would like to thank Sheriff Sylvan Ladner, his deputies, and all law enforcement agencies, for their combined and concentrated effort in the investigation and arrest of the alleged suspect in the murder of my wife and attempted murder of my daughter.

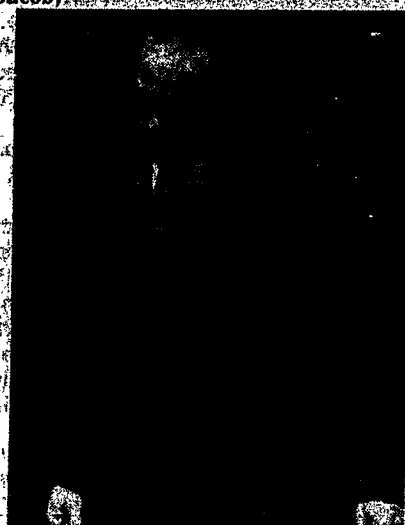

"From the beginning of this ordeal I have had complete confidence in our local and surrounding law enforcement agencies.

"My wish is now that we give the judicial process of our government an adequate chance to prevail.

"It was heart-warming to witness the cooperation of our community as well as county residents for their extreme cooperation during this ordeal.

"I have been either directly or indirectly involved in law enforcement since 1965 and never have I seen at any one time or any one case, such a devoted and concentrated interest by law enforcement officials in this, and the surrounding area.

"From the beginning, I had confidence in our law enforcement agencies and faith in God that this mystery would be solved."

LEAVES HEARING - Clutching brief case, District Attorney Albert Necaise leaves Hancock County Courthouse on Tuesday, following initial hearing of Charles Edward Depreo charged with capital murder, to ascertain whether or not defendant had legal representation.

Dedication of $4 million Assembly culminates nine-year rebuilding

by EDGAR PEREZ
In a deliberate yet dramatic recovery from the ravages of Hurricane Camille nine years ago, the Mississippi Baptist Convention is reopening its Gulfshore Assembly on Henderson Point with dedication of a new $4 million facility Friday, May 5.

An overflow crowd of Baptists from across the state is expected to attend the 7:30 p.m. ceremonies, according to

Frank Simmons, Gulfshore director. Simmons extended a special invitation to Hancock County Baptists as well as interested residents from the Bay, Waveland and Pass Christian areas to attend the dedication. Principal speakers at the event are to be Dr. Earl Kelly, executive director of the Mississippi Baptist Convention, and James L. Sullivan, Mississippi native and immediate past president of the Southern Baptist Convention. Once operated as a Merchant Marine training center, Gulfshore Assembly was purchased by the Mississippi Baptist Convention from the federal government in 1958.

The first summer of church activity at the Assembly was in 1960 under the direction of Art Nelson, currently serving as Convention business manager in Jackson.

Nelson was succeeded in 1964 by Rev. Thomas Douglas, who served as director until Hurricane Camille destroyed the facility in 1969.

The one building which withstood Camille's pounding, an auditorium, succumbed to fire in 1976.

"The Convention had spent large sums of money in restoration of the Assembly buildings before the storm," (ASSEMBLY - PAGE 4A)

Waveland businesses checked for state fire code violations

by EDGAR PEREZ

Waveland Fire Marshal Lee Ferrell this week began a series of fire prevention inspections which is slated eventually to touch every commercial and public establishment in the city.

In addition, Ferrell said, the city's new ordinance requiring permits for any type of outdoor fire is now in effect, with permits available on a 24-hour basis at the City Hall fire station.

Three Bay St. Louis firemen, in the meantime, are slated to attend the Mississippi State Fire Academy in Jackson May 8-12.

And academy instructors will conduct night sessions on basic fire fighting at the Bay St. Louis fire station on Old Spanish Trail May 30 through June 2.

Ferrell began the fire prevention inspections along the Coleman Avenue business section this week, completing calls on 15 or 16 establishments thus far.

"The infractions we have found appear to be mostly minor, with some places having equipment in need of service and others having not quite enough," he reported.

"Some new businesses are without any fire extinguishers, but owners have been very cooperative with most simply unaware of the requirements," Ferrell continued.

"We simply want them to understand that these laws will be enforced," he added.

The fire official noted public places in Waveland fall under the requirements of the Mississippi State Fire Prevention Code.

"The code covers such things as adequately serviced and located fire extinguishers, exit signs, access to exits and storage plans for combustible materials," Ferrell stated.

"On this go round, we are talking to the owners, pointing out violations and making recommendations on how to correct them and where necessary equipment, supplies and services can be obtained," Ferrell continued.

He said the fire prevention code applies to all public places, including schools and churches.

The fire marshal said Waveland police will assist in the enforcement of the new outdoor fire permit ordinance.

He emphasized that business places which routinely burn refuse outdoors, including burning in "fire barrels," will be required to obtain daily permits.

The permits are available free of charge on a 24-hour basis, and are good for 12 hours, he pointed out.

"This new law will allow us to fix responsibility if an outdoor fire does get out of control," he said.

"It is now strictly illegal to start or maintain any kind of outdoor fire in the Waveland city limits without a permit," he explained.

Ferrell noted permits for beach bon fires require the fires be extinguished and the fire area be cleaned up and cleared by midnight.

Business places using enclosed fires in free-standing furnaces are not affected by the permit ordinance, Ferrell said.

Bay St. Louis firemen Ronald Cuevas, Keith Starita and Alphonse Sheppard will attend the Jackson training sessions which will include courses on fire behavior, breathing apparatus, use of ladders and hoses, forcible entry, search and rescue, ventilation and cleanup.

Upon completion of the course, the men will be eligible for "Fire Fighter One" classification.

Captain Michael Willumitis of the Bay Fire Department said the evening training sessions slated here May 30-June 2 will be open to firemen from throughout the Hancock County area.

The "Basic Fire Fighters Instruction Course" will be offered during the period, the captain reported.

"This kind of operation calls for more sophisticated or exotic equipment, special steels in pipes and casings, some of which must be custom rolled at the mills," Townsend explained, adding, "safety precautions must be much more elaborate."

The Saga president said it is not unheard of to spend as much as $10 million developing a deep well.

"We have many millions already invested in the Williams Well in the Waveland Field, and several millions more in the deep Seals Well north of Kiln," he stated.

"These are a type of well where you only need one on every two sections—landowners should be willing to pool their holdings," he feels.

"We're not trying to attack anything sacred; we're only asking for a temporary rule change."

Townsend said Saga and Young are only asking for a chance to try their ideas for three years.

"If after three years it looks like two sections is not the right area for one well, we'll be willing to make the necessary adjustments," he explained.

"And these requested changes have nothing to do with our drillings in the Mooringsport sand between 13,400 and 14,400 feet—we are looking only at the highly expensive deep wells where potential is as yet unevaluated and very risky," Townsend continued.

The previously deepest well was only to 16,000 feet, he noted.

"It's purely a matter of economics—acquiring one of these rigs to drill to extreme depths is very difficult, there are only a few of them in the country and they are rarely available for a new location," Townsend stated.

"Some of those people worrying about a half a royalty maybe should have thought about the possibility of no royalty at all," Townsend said.

"There seems to have been an awful lot of misinformation circulated in Hancock County on this matter; a lot of statements made about what the law requires which were absolutely false," the executive added.

"Needless to say, we're very concerned about the situation over there," he said, "because whatever is good for them is good for us. We're just trying to make some money for them, and for us."

Superintendent of Schools Terry Randolph said Wednesday he still believes the school board's opposition to Saga's proposal "is going to be a good thing for the county in the long run."

The superintendent noted he has approved this week a lease of 1,280 acres of 18th Section lands to Union Oil Co. which is drilling on adjacent property.

He said the lease is a five-year renewal of a lease scheduled to expire in June.

MISSISSIPPI AG MUSEUM

Modern Mississippians as well as visitors to the Magnolia State soon will be able to see the tools and techniques that brought this state out of the wilderness in the 17th, 18th, and 19th centuries into the mainstream of modern American agricultural productivity.

Under the guidance of Mississippi's Commissioner of Agriculture and Commerce Jim Buck Ross and a broadly based museum advisory committee two significant projects are underway in the state that soon will give birth to what holds promise of being an exciting adventure to everyone.

First, Commissioner Ross has been on the move since about 1969 quietly obtaining old farm equipment and rural artifacts for preservation and display in the second project—the construction of a modern Agricultural and Forestry Museum on a 38 acre site adjacent to the Smith-Willis baseball stadium and the Dizzy Dean Museum and within a stone's throw of the junction of Interstate 55 and Lakeland Drive, or Mississippi Highway 25.

Last week the museum's advisory committee met with Commissioner Ross to review the plans developing under the guidance of the State Building Commission and both principal and associate architects on the project. The group visited the site which currently is a reclaimed landfill area with groves of trees and weedpatches awaiting development by the state group.

Ag-Forestry Museum will provide spacious indoor exhibits, indoctrination programs for visitors, and outdoor exhibits of such rural and nostalgic events as blacksmithing, syrup making, log wagon loading and perhaps even hog killing on cold winter days. Commissioner Ross's enthusiasm runs wild and he chuckles with reflecting savvy as he talks of the educational and historical portent of the undertaking which already has received legislative endorsement and funding for implementation of the museum.

Commissioner Ross indicates that Mississippians already have been very generous in donating over 1,000 important and valuable pieces of equipment and relics for the museum and he said many other things will be given as soon as everybody learns of the undertaking and sees how the article will be restored, preserved and exhibited for future generations. Warehouse space to temporarily house the items already donated has been provided free to the state.

for the purpose of protecting all articles until they are moved into the new museum facilities.

The museum that will be built soon will not only house the collection of farm and forestry artifacts, but will accept, catalog, restore and assemble artifacts for the ever-changing exhibits. Shop space will be provided for restoration and assembly of articles with personnel capable of production and demonstration of crafts from woodworking to blacksmithing.

Outdoor exhibits with appropriate covering as needed will be provided as well as some reconstructed buildings characteristic of farm and rural village life.

The main museum building will have a large lobby capable of assembling several busloads of visitors at one time. An orientation slide show is planned to orient the visitor to the museum's concepts before the exhibits are visited. Parking will be shared at the existing Smith-Willis baseball stadium parking lot. The grounds will be landscaped with native trees and demonstration gardens.

Both agricultural and forestry exhibits will be the main show attractions while old photographs will depict visual history beyond the scope of the exhibits. The museum structure will be built on wooden pilings and the importance of the timber industry will be reflected in the construction and materials of the building units.

LIBRARY WORKSHOP

The School of Library Service, USM, will conduct a workshop concerning the critical areas of library media center administration, June 6 to 16, Hattiesburg. Registration is scheduled for 8 to 9 a.m., Room 202, Joseph Anderson Cook Memorial Library. Details from Division of Continuing Education, Southern Station, Box 5136, Hattiesburg, Ms. 39401.

JOINS GRPC STAFF

Fred Wise, formerly serving as a regional planner with Mississippi Research and Development Center, and geography teacher at Mississippi College, has joined the staff of Gulf Regional Planning Commission as a regional planner in charge of the transportation planning activities of the three coast counties, according to Fred Wise, executive director.

Stewart...

Stewart assisted in placing a law library of the county in public quarters, and in having a Law Library Commission established by the Board of Supervisors, to which he was subsequently appointed and has continuously service since its inception.

He has additionally served as commissioner with the State Law Enforcement Assistance Division from 1968 to 1972.

Born in 1930 at Woolmarket, he was a graduate of Gulfport High School, attended Perkinson Junior College, and University of Southern Mississippi, and was a Dean's List scholar at Millsaps, being graduated with a B.S. degree in 1953.

Stewart left Tulane University Graduate School to join the United States Navy, where he served for two years, entering the University of Mississippi upon his release in 1956, being graduated with an L.L.B. (Juris Doctor) in 1968.

During his school and university years, the candidate attended Boy's State (1948), was named to both the Big Eight football and track teams, a member of the All-Dixie Football Squad for two years, and served as a member of the National Honor Society.

Active in church and civic affairs, he has served as chairman of the Harrison County Cancer Crusade, and participated in the United Way, Boy Scouts, P-T-A, Kiwanis Club, Jaycees, Open Gulf Watch, and Long Beach Air-Marine Rescue Unit. He is presently a director of the Harrison County Retarded Children's Association, and was named "Lawman of the Year in 1972 by the Gulfport Kiwanis Club.

Married and father of three children, Stewart said of his bid this week, "My candidacy is based upon varied legal experience involving active trial work in all state courts from the Justice Courts to the Supreme Court and the Federal Court."

"The office of county prosecuting attorney is not a full time office, and I have had an opportunity to handle a large volume of civil matters in the Chancery Court, covering all classes of cases, such as estates, guardianships, adoptions, domestic relations, injunctions, boundary and land disputes, title confirmations, and a host of similar cases."

"My official duties have also kept me in direct touch with laws relating to children through active involvement in the chancery court and family court concerning child support cases, paternity cases, and many similar matters."

"If elected, being a judge would not be a new experience for me, since I have been sitting as Master in Chancery in the trial of issues in the Chancery Court for some time. The issues heard by me as master involved serious and complicated questions concerning land matters, contract disputes, and accounting information."

"If the electorate should elect me to the position of Judge of the Chancery Court, Post One, I offer all the energy and ability as I may possess with the pledge that any person who comes before my court will enter assured that his cause will be fairly considered on the law and the evidence."

Friday night Curtain raises on senior play

The Senior class of Bay High School presents the three act comedy "Bull in a China Shop" at 7:30 p.m. Friday in the Junior High auditorium. The play revolves around six old maids who fall deeply in love with a homicide detective.

The only way the old ladies can get the good looking Irish cop, played by Gerry Townsend, to come to their house is to commit a murder. Unfortunately, the ladies don't know anyone to murder except each other.

The hilarious come-ons of these old ladies to this confirmed bachelor and his useless attempts to solve the murder are getting no where fast, when a young goodlooking lady reporter gets involved.

She has to her hat set for Detective O'Finn and the old ladies see another murder in the making, or do they?

The old ladies are portrayed by Tina Negrette, Cathy Cox, Donna Bielstein, Melinda Smith, Caroline Ferrell, and Lari Garside. The lady reporter is Cathy Bosley.

Tickets are $1.00 for adults, and $.50 for students and may be purchased at the door.

A difficult task

Since the April 8 murder of Mrs. Janice Ladner, law enforcement agencies, and local news media have had difficult task, one to solve the case, and the other to provide a constant flow of new information.

There have been many pressures on law enforcement officials to put on a crash investigation and find the culprit.

Sheriff Sylvan J. Ladner, his deputies, and all other law enforcement agencies should be commended for their professional manner of investigation in spite of these pressures. The case is not over, a lot more has to be done.

The news media have had pressures from the public in wanting information. While information is our chief reason of being in existence, we have tried to provide as much true fact as possible without jeopardizing the efforts of law men, or damaging their case.

We are proud of the cooperation everyone has given the law agencies in the performance of their duties. Now we can remain helpful by continuing our cooperation and letting the law take its course.

This incident, we as a county would like to forget, but it is something with which we all have to live.

We have friends, and you have friends, and-or relatives, involved on both sides of this mess. This makes the job of the sheriff and the community even harder to complete.

We pray that each and everyone, will be very sensible in this period of trial in all words, actions, and deeds.

Let none of us, or one of us, make a bad situation even worse.

April 20, 1978

It was indeed refreshing to read in the Thursday edition of the Echo, April 20, the apparent united efforts being displayed by our various governing bodies in the county. We refer to cooperation extended by Oscar Peterson, Beat Three Supervisor, in assisting the City of Bay St. Louis in paving one of their major thoroughfares. We again refer to the idea being discussed in combining the efforts by all three governments to share in the cost of reappraising the county's property. It has also come to our attention the possibility of all three governments retaining one firm for engineering services. It is this kind of unselfish thinking that will move our county forward and in the direction that the majority of the progressively minded citizens and organizations, like ourselves, have been wanting and awaiting - the chance to show a united front.

We certainly feel that a united effort by the Supervisors, City of Waveland Alderman, and Mayor, and the City of Bay St. Louis Councilmen and Mayor, in solving the many problems that a growing area encounters should be continued, and each of their governments should extend a helping hand to one another and pull together for the betterment of all. We ask that you continue with this line of thinking and study other projects which could be accomplished jointly and you erase city limits, beat lines and ward boundaries. Let's think togetherness and be strong in numbers.

Yours Very Truly

Contest honors

Sea Coast Echo,
Bay St. Louis, MS 39520

Dear Mr. Cuevas:

Thank you for your services in judging the recent essay contest sponsored by the QUEST Committee of the Bay St. Louis Federation of Teachers. We sincerely appreciate the contribution of your time and effort on behalf of the youth in our community public schools.

Due in large part to the professional performance of the judges, this contest was apparently well received by the community. With the help of community leaders like you, we hope in future years to continue to challenge our youth to express their ideas and beliefs about thought provoking questions of concern to all of us.

We would also like to thank you for publishing the winning essays. We hope that all segments of our community - parents, educators, and students - will profit from the opinions expressed by the essay winners.

Again, thank you for your invaluable assistance, and in the hope that you will continue to assist us in future years, I remain,

Very truly yours,
ANDREWS WILKINSON

Court judgeships and a District Two Circuit Court judgeship.

Seven candidates for Eastland's Senate seat will be on the Democratic primary ballot June 6, and two Republican candidates will be seeking that party's nomination in the June election, Otis pointed out.

Two Democratic candidates are seeking nomination for the Circuit Court judgeship, with nomination in this case being tantamount to election since no Republicans have qualified in the race, Otis explained.

The Democratic nominee could face independent opposition in the general election, however, he added.

Two Democrats are seeking nomination for one of the Chancery Court judgeships, and four are vying for the other slot, according to Otis.

UNDER HEAVY GUARD - Led by Harold Marx, investigator, Mississippi Highway Patrol, and escorted by Sheriff Sylvan Ladner, left, and Chief Deputy Ronnie Peterson, Charles Edward Depreo, 18, is led into hearing room of Hancock County Courthouse to determine his ability to provide himself with legal counsel for defense against murder, arson, and aggravated assault charges stemming from arson-murder and wounding, April 8 in Kiln. (Staff photo - Jake Jacob)

ON RETURN FROM VIRGINIA with charged suspect in murder of Mrs. Janice Ladner of Kiln, April 8, Sheriff Sylvan Ladner, wearing badge, and Chief Deputy Ronnie Peterson, still bear haggard expression brought about by endless hours out in field on way to solving crime.

her home that Sunday morning.

He had been home on leave, staying at his parent's house some two miles down the Joe Moran Road, from March 30 through April 18. It was from here and to here the supposed murder weapon, a .22 calibre revolver, was apparently taken and returned.

Ballistics tests on the gun, obtained from the home through the use of a search warrant, have not yet been returned to Sheriff Ladner by the FBI.

Depreo, a friend of the victim, was identified by Joy Lynn Ladner, who though wounded, in the shooting managed to escape to a neighbor's house in a vain try to help her mother.

First sent to Hancock then Gulfport Memorial Hospitals, Joy Lynn was removed to a more easily guarded location when her physical condition permitted after it became obvious she was the key witness.

Fearing a mental relapse, doctors forbade direct police contact with the girl instead forwarded what little she advanced on a voluntary basis to the Hancock sheriff.

Ladner was aided in the investigation by Bay St. Louis, Waveland, Pass Christian, Long Beach, and Gulfport police, Harrison County Sheriff's Office, and the Mississippi Highway Patrol.

Sheriff Ladner, preempted his normal schedule for the investigation and he and Peterson, aided by all deputies, spent hours in the field searching for clues, the murder weapon, questioning area residents, and following up on any and all leads.

"The cooperation we obtained in this investigation is the greatest I have ever experienced in my four terms of office," Sheriff Ladner said.

But, when it came down to the final leg, it was Joy Lynn who all along had maintained a man called 'Chuck' had 'shot her mommy...' who provided the key needed to unlock the mystery.

Bit by bit the wounded girl added a clue after clue until they pointed firmly towards the suspect but Sheriff Ladner put the possibility to one side knowing of his naval obligation. It was not until he learned of Depreo's being home on leave at the time of the incident that a warrant was sought.

The county lawman was also well acquainted with the suspect as the young man's father served as Ladner's chief deputy from 1964 to '67.

Mrs. Ladner, a teacher at Waveland Elementary School, was described as being regarded highly and well liked by all who knew here, leading Sheriff Ladner to originally term the killing a 'spite murder.'

The sheriff, who knew the whole family, said Mrs. Ladner was regarded by lots of her students and neighbors more as a friend to 'talk to' or 'talk things over with' or as a big sister or mother, than just a 'neighbor' or 'teacher.'

"Everybody liked her," Ladner explained. The sheriff said the Depreo statement gave full details concerning the alleged crimes, but did not provide motive for the murder.

"This investigation is not yet closed. There are some areas we still have to determine exactly what happened and more particularly the reason."

"We feel there has to be a motive for a crime this big and this brutal... there just has to be a reason," Ladner allowed.

According to Ladner, Depreo entered the Navy on April 7, 1977, and had experienced no problems in the service.

Asked if bond would be allowed, the sheriff said that the nature of the charges precluded the possibility.

"The suspect has been quiet, and given us no problems or trouble since his arrest," Ladner concluded.

First notification of the crime was received by sheriff's deputies on patrol at approximately 2:10 a.m., Saturday, April 8, following the sheriff's office receiving a call from neighbors some 500 yards down the road after their being awakened by the almost incoherent Joy Lynn.

When the deputies arrived at the scene some ten minutes later, the house was already enveloped in flames, with fire leaping from the bedroom area windows.

Attempts to penetrate the fire shortly after by members of the Kiln Volunteer Fire Department were thwarted by heat and fire. Discovery of the body was made in the early morning light as were the obvious indications of foul play.

Assembly Director

Frank Simmons

Assembly...

Simmons noted.

"So you can understand why a good length of time was spent in deciding whether or not to rebuild," the new director explained.

"We are often asked why a nine-year delay in getting reopened," he added, "but we were determined not to make a hasty decision."

"Now I think any visitor will agree - we have one of the most beautiful locations in the State of Mississippi here on Henderson Point," Simmons stated.

More time was consumed in settling insurance claims and in clean-up operations before the decision to rebuild was made by the Convention, the director pointed out.

"Once that decision was made, we became involved in an in-depth study of the needs of our people to be met by the Assembly," he continued.

"And then after we determined what we needed, we embarked on a fund raising campaign until we were able to start construction in July, 1976," he explained.

"Baptist churches from all across Mississippi had an opportunity to contribute a small percentage of their annual budget for three years to help make the Assembly a reality," Simmons said.

Baptist churches contributed from two to five percent of their annual budgets for construction of the Assembly, Simmons explained, with additional funds realized from special gifts from individuals.

He said the $4 million cost includes construction, furnishings and landscaping for the Assembly which sits on 32 acres fronting 900 feet on Bay St. Louis just south of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad tracks.

The avowed purpose of the Assembly, as outlined by the Convention's board of directors, is two-fold:

First, "To provide a retreat setting in which prayer and Bible study may become intensely personal, meaningful and helpful in Christian renewal and revival; with inspiration, information, instruction and encouragement in Christian living leading persons to a personal confrontation with and commitment to Jesus Christ as Savior and Lord."

And secondly, "To make available modern facilities, specialized training equipment and skilled leadership to undergird intensive training programs for church leaders of the Mississippi Baptist Convention."

Simmons is dedicated to making operation of the Assembly a year-round proposition.

"We are already booked solid with activities through September, with additional bookings into November," he said, adding, "so it looks like we are already well on our way to fulfilling that goal already."

"After seeing some of the results of Hurricane Camille, I tend to stay away from the term 'hurricane-proof,' but even so, we feel the worst another storm could do here now is knock out glass and flood lower floors," Simmons reported.

"We don't think the structure would be damaged - not with about one-third of our costs having gone into foundations and reinforcements," he added.

While Simmons emphasized the primary function of the Assembly is to be spiritual and educational in nature, the facility's attractions as a recreational retreat are second to none.

Some 500 feet of white sand beach stretches across the front of the main building on Bay St. Louis, accented by a large lighted pier jutting into the water with several boat slips attached.

The junior olympic swimming pool on the grounds next to a new 600-seat auditorium is being rebuilt, with the auditorium building housing pool dressing room facilities.

Two tennis courts are complemented by outdoor volleyball and basketball courts as well as a softball field.

A large game field has been laid out for general recreation and is capable of handling future recreation needs, Simmons added.

Sleeping accommodations include 32 dormitory rooms which can sleep up to eight, 32 twin-bed rooms and four efficiency apartments. There are no provisions for permanent residents on the Assembly grounds, Simmons said.

A cafeteria in the main building seats 200, and classrooms in both the main and auditorium buildings make up a total seating capacity of some 700.

A special infants area has been provided to care for bed babies through pre-schoolers.

Engineering statistics on the development indicate 106,460 square feet or 2.44 acres of buildings; 8,000 cubic yards of excavation and fill soil; 24,000 lineal feet or 4.5 miles of pilings; 6,000 cubic yards of concrete; 900,000 pounds of reinforcing steel; 240,000 pounds of structural steel in the administration building; 200 tons of air conditioning; five miles of piping in the mechanical system; and $100,000 of food service equipment.

Simmons' staff includes Mrs. Paula Polk, administrative secretary, and Freddie Cook, maintenance superintendent.

The new director lives with his wife, Carol, and two children in Long Beach. The couple are both natives of Kosciusko.

He was activities director for the Harrisburg Baptist Church in Tupelo for the past seven years.

Simmons is a graduate of Mississippi College in Clinton and holds a master's degree in religious education from the Southwestern Baptist Seminary in Fort Worth, Tex.

Architects of the new Assembly are the firms of Slaughter, Smith and Allred of Pascagoula, and Caudill, Rowlett and Scott of Houston, Tex.

Roy Anderson Jr. of Gulfport is general contractor. Ivey's Incorporated, is mechanical contractor and Chain Electric is electrical contractor.

Structural engineers are Post, Witty and Till. Pitcairn & Company is mechanical engineer.

PROBLEMS IN THE COUNTY

Your board of directors know that they exist! We have discussed how the Chamber can help assist in finding solutions to the problems we have. Some of the problems discussed at the March meeting were: lack of housing; sewerage problems; tax equalization; proper zoning; signs to divert traffic from I-10; upgrading the downtown area; street problems; a need for a beautification campaign; improving educational facilities; Stennis International; and there are more. Committees are in the process of being formed to look into these problems. The Chamber is here to assist the county, both cities and the Port and Harbor officials. They know that we want to help and, through our Committees doing some research, we hope that this will be of aid to them.

MEMBERSHIP MEETING - It was a pleasure to have our quarterly membership meeting so well attended. A special thanks to Senator Martin Smith and Representative J. P. Comptre. They are both members of this Chamber. Now - don't forget to see if you can win first place by bringing in the most new members during the first week of May.

MISS. DEEP SEA FISHING RODEO PRINCESS for Hancock County is 'Debbie' Woodcock. Debbie will represent us during the fourth of July activities held in Gulfport and will vie for the position of Queen. Good luck, Debbie.

MISS. HANCOCK COUNTY CHAMBER OF COMMERCE is Liz Bosley. Liz is employed at the Highway 90 Branch of Hancock Bank. She will represent us in the Bay St. Louis Miss Hospitality contest to be held in May. The Chamber is very proud to have a young lady like Liz representing us. She will participate in many functions throughout the year.

HANCOCK COUNTY PROMOTION - We are in the process of mailing out a letter, brochures and other data to the 200 Navy families expected to move into our area in June. We welcome them and invite them to "come live with us."

KING NEPTUNE - This year the Chamber's nominee for King Neptune is George Heitzmann. A committee of the Deep Sea Fishing Rodeo, will look over all the applications submitted from the Coast and name the winner of this award. He will be recognized at the Ms. Deep Sea Fishing Rodeo. The winner of this award last year was Hancock County's Sam Favre.

BLUE GRASS FESTIVAL will be held April 29-30. This is family entertainment and is sponsored by the Moran Family. The location is Lower Bay Road. For further information call 467-5094 - 467-4674 or contact the Chamber office - 467-9048.

MARCH OF DIMES BIKE-A-THON and will be held April 29. Jimmy Larroux is the Hancock County Chairman of this event. Let's join Jimmy by riding a bike or pledging for those who cannot ride.

MENTAL HEALTH MONTH is the month of May. Your contributions can be sent to the Hancock County Chairperson, Judy Yarbrough, c/o Hancock County Health Dept., P.O. Box 228, Bay St. Louis. Make checks payable to Mental Health Association of Ms. This donation is tax deductible.

OFFICE DAY - Vo-Tech sponsored a program called Office Day and we were proud to participate by having the help of a student, Callie Willis, work in our office April 12. Callie received on the job experience and we received a lot of help. If you didn't have a chance to participate why don't you get in touch with Vo-Tech and have them put your name down for next year.

COME EXPECTING A MIRACLE EVERYONE INVITED

In Jesus one will find life is worth living because we can commune with God. We can aspire toward his likeness, reach beyond our grasp to have this peace which passes all understanding. Without Jesus we are only existing. To miss being a part of "the Body of Christ" is like to have utter failure. If your life is a failure and you only exist why not right now, let God light a flame in your heart and soul? Then, keep walking with God and watch the flicker grow into a great fire. In Jesus there is no loneliness and no sadness—only peace and joy in the Holy Ghost.

Pass Library serves in many ways bringing joy to elderly

By FLORENCE ROBBINS LIBRARY VOLUNTEER

Opportunities for service are constantly sought by our libraries, but a unique opportunity is recognized by the Pass Christian Library, a nursing home practically next door. Probably no library in the United States celebrated National Library Week with a Wheel Chair Pilgrimage such as was the case in Pass Christian.

No one who saw the line of some 25 wheel chairs travel the relatively short distance between the buildings will ever forget it, or feel any other part of the varied program offered by the Library that week was so worthwhile.

The chairman of the pilgrimage called the participants "riders" and "pushers."

The "pushers" were volunteers from Friends of the Library which sponsored the pilgrimage and five girls from St. Paul's School. It is a question whether "riders" or "pushers" enjoyed it more.

Inside the library the Rotary Craft Exhibit offered many items of interest. The doll house and quilt displays appealed, as did the paintings, ceramics, and weaving.

One "rider" told her "pusher" that she had not been out of the home for three years. This is something the Friends of the Library hope to remedy.

A rare treat to the "riders,"

Vo-Tech contest gets three from

Kiln to state

Three students from Pearl River Junior College Vo-Tech Center, Kiln, recently took part in District IV, Industrial Clubs of America competition on the Jackson County Junior College campus, Gautier.

Of the three, Tommy Marsh, Scott Landry, and Eric Henly, two - March and Henly will go on to represent the Hancock Center in state competition, this week in Jackson.

Seven schools participated in the competitive skill events and medals were presented to winners at a banquet that evening.

Marsh is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jay Marsh of Bay St. Louis, is a metal trades student and also a student at Saint Stanislaus. He placed second in his competition.

Landry, son of Mr. and Mrs. E.L. Landry of Diamondhead, an electrical department student attending Hancock North Central, placed third in his skill section.

A student of the building trades department, and also of Saint Stanislaus, Henley is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Henley of Bay St. Louis.

Also participating in district competition from the Hancock Vo-Tech Center were: David Bouis, Colin Jones, Chip Lee, Oliver Seal, David Wittorf, and Uless J. Bergeron, Jr., club advisor.

Canned Tuna Has a Lot Going For It!

Would you believe Americans have been using canned tuna since the turn of the century? This year, the canned tuna industry is celebrating its 75th Anniversary and the Tuna Research Foundation's home economists have been cooking up a storm to show how great tuna is in hot dishes, as well as cold.

Tuna, as you may know, has complete protein comparable to that found in lean beef. The tempting Tuna Health Loaf, shown here, is a delicious change from the usual meatloaf. Made with canned tuna, spinach, peanuts, wheat germ and other good foods, this loaf has a lot going for it in the way of basic nutrition and solidifying satisfaction. You'll enjoy making it, too. It's the easiest!

TUNA HEALTH LOAF

2 cans (6 1/2 or 7 ounces each) tuna in vegetable oil
1 onion, chopped
1 package (10 ounces) frozen chopped spinach, thawed and well drained
1 cup finely chopped unsalted peanuts
1/2 cup wheat germ
3 eggs
1/2 cup milk
1/4 teaspoon pepper

In a large bowl combine all ingredients, mix well. Turn into 7-3/8 x 3-5/8 x 2 1/2-inch loaf pan that has been lined with well-oiled aluminum foil. Bake in 350°F. oven 45 minutes. Remove from oven and let stand 5 to 10 minutes before removing from pan. Slice with serrated knife for best results. May be served hot or cold. YIELD: 6 servings.

that perfect spring day, was the view out over the Gulf where the water sparkled, the shrimp boats were out; most of the pleasure boats in their slips; gulls mewed overhead and, mocking birds ran through their repertoire.

The pilgrimage is a "once a year" event at the moment. But, the library also sponsors a book service from Friends of the Library to individual patients.

The volunteer learns the preferences and supplies the books - to the man who reads four Westerns a week and complains when one was brought to him about sheep raising. Westerns should deal only with horses according to him. To the woman who wants only light love stories - but none which takes place in a foreign country (the volunteer learns that people do not seem to fall in love in this country - at least in large print books!), there is the sweet soul who revels in the "Miss Read" stories of the little English village and has just completed Eugenia Price's St. Simon's Island (President Carter's Island) trilogy with real enjoyment.

The volunteers also conduct a weekly reading-exercise hour. Since practically the entire audience is in wheel chairs the exercise is mostly hand and fingers. And the reading?

A few lines from a favorite psalm? Bennett Cerf or Ogden Nash?

How they love to laugh. An attendant watched a patient throw back her head and laugh and later told the reader "She hasn't even smiled since she's been here."

Poetry - the wooing of Hiawatha was a favorite. "I'd forgotten how beautiful it was," said a member of the audience.

Reading of local interest.

Harbour and rest to those who enter here; courage to those who go forth. Let those who go and those who stay forget not God."

Politicos face dunking at CE Spring Festival

The Christ Episcopal Day School in Bay St. Louis and Christ Episcopal High School in Pass Christian Saturday will provide the local citizenry an opportunity to "soak" a favorite politician.

Elected officials such as State Representative J. P. Compretta and Bay Councilmen Harry Favre and Pete Benvenuti will take their turns on a "dunking machine" at the schools' annual Spring Festival on the Day School grounds on Beach Boulevard in Bay St. Louis.

Site of the festival will be marked by a U. S. Marine Corps amphibious vehicle parked on the beachfront.

Festival midway opens at 11 a.m. with a program by the

Hancock groups to attend 2nd Charismatic conclave

Members of the St. Augustine Charismatic Prayer Group in Bay St. Louis as well as prayer group members from Kiln and Delisle will join some 12,000 persons expected at the second annual Catholic Charismatic Regional Conference at the New Orleans Rivergate exhibition center May 12-14.

Mrs. Charlene Martinolich, spokesman for the Bay St. Louis group, said information on the conference can be obtained locally by calling 467-4452.

This year's theme will be "The Power to Witness to Jesus."

Speakers for the weekend conference include Bishop Nicholas D'Antonio, New Orleans' newest bishop and the vicar for Spanish-speaking persons there and Rev. John Bertolucci, pastor of St. Joseph's parish in Little Falls, N. Y. and a member of the national advisory committee of the Catholic Charismatic Renewal.

Also speaking will be Rev.

Harold Cohen, S. J., assistant chaplain at Loyola University and archdiocesan representative to the Charismatic Renewal.

Charismatic renewal is a movement of spiritual renewal within the Christian churches. It emphasizes a closer relationship with God through experiences of the gifts, or charisms, of the Holy Spirit mentioned in First Corinthians, Chapter 12.

The conference program will consist of general sessions Friday and Saturday evenings and Sunday morning, workshops all day Saturday, and a closing general session and liturgy Sunday afternoon.

A "clergy day" will be held Friday. A "clergy day" will be held Friday, May 12 from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. to introduce priests, deacons and clergymen to charismatic renewal and to involve them in talks and prayer.

The conference will begin Friday night at 7:30 with a talk by Fr. Bertolucci on the theme of witness.

Saturday's activities include seven all-day workshops. Topics will include: "Faith, Healing and Miracles," "Discernment of Spirits," and "Prophecy and Revelation."

Sessions that day will also cover "Preaching and Teaching with Wisdom and Knowledge" and a talk in Spanish by Bishop D'Antonio, who served the people of Honduras for over 30 years.

The conference will continue Sunday, May 14 with a 9 a.m. prayer meeting followed by lunch and films. Bishop D'Antonio will celebrate a 1:30 p.m. Mass to close the conference.

Pre-registration is encouraged and must be completed by May 1. Brochures and registration information may be obtained by writing 1978 Southern Regional Conference, 4920 Kent Avenue, Metairie, La. 70002; or by phone at (504) 455-1361.

Harbor Shop elects new prexy

The Harbor Shop in Pass Christian, has elected Mrs. Jerry Fitzpatrick to replace Mrs. John McCloskey as president for the 1978. Mrs. McCloskey's term had expired.

The action took place recently during the annual election of officers of the non-profit, volunteer organization.

Other new officers are: Mrs. Otis Trepagnier, vice president, replacing Mrs. Walter M. Carter, term expired; Mrs. Mary Abley, and Mrs. Marvin Mingledorff, continue as treasurer and secretary, respectively.

The Harbor Shop, was formed in 1965 to provide an outlet for arts and crafts creations in the area and has since expanded to include antiques.

All works in the shop's inventory are on consignment, and the workers volunteers. Profits, after store expenses are met, are donated to voted civic causes.

During the past few years, monies have been donated to the Boy Scouts of America, Little League, Henderson Point and Pass Christian Volunteer Fire Departments, and the City of Pass Christian's Christmas Decoration Fund.

Harbor Shop hours are from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday through Saturday. The store is located at 203 East Scenic Drive, Pass Christian.

A review of teen-age problems, 75 years ago "Boys will be boys"

by S. Grady Thigpen, county historian

"Boys Will Be Boys"

In these modern days we read and hear a lot about the problems with boys and girls. Back in the old days people were not so much bothered by such problems. Most parents back then kept their boys and girls so busy that they did not have time to become the serious problems that so many of them have become today.

But, as the old saying goes, "boys will be boys", and regardless of when and where they lived, disciplinary problems have always come up. When a boy became unruly seventy years ago his father did not have the benefit of any guidance counselor, social worker, educated preacher or anyone else to ask for advice about what to do with his boy. He had never even heard of any of these modern aids to parents, nor had he read any of the new fangled books on rearing children, nor had he read any newspaper columns giving advice to parents on what to do with wayward boys, nor had he attended any meetings to hear sociologists discuss teen age problems. His only knowledge of raising children came for his own upbringing. Since he was so totally ignorant of all this information considered so important today it is a wonder that he ever got his boys reared at all, if you are to believe much of what you hear and read in these days.

The old time father's methods of bringing his boy to his senses would very likely not have met with the approval of the modern day Parent-Teacher Association or the new type of progressively educated teachers and modern preachers but he got results with his way of handling his son. If Sonny needed disciplining the father and the mother would have a serious talk about what to do but they did not consider offering him a new saddle for his pony if he would be a good boy. It never entered their minds to offer him a trip to the circus if he would quit smoking cigarettes, or a new suit if he would get up his lessons, or a 22 rifle if he would mind his mother. These modern methods of child control were unheard of back in the good old days and I don't believe that our grandfathers and grandmothers would have thought much of these modern day solutions if they had heard of them.

As a general thing, when discipline was required the boy would be called into the parents' room for a serious talk with his father and mother. Father and son then went together out back of the barn where the boy got what he deserved and it was not a new saddle, circus trip, a suit or a rifle, but a stout hickory switch vigorously applied to that part of his body which the Good Lord provided for that purpose. After this was over the father gave his son full instructions on what his future conduct was to be, and so clearly that the boy could not possibly misunderstand them.

As a result the boy took renewed interest in his part of the work around the farm, he took greater interest in his school subjects and was a much better and more obedient boy from that time on. I don't believe that this method of raising boys has yet been improved upon. It is my belief that the solution to the teen age problem is a simple one - one that everybody can understand and apply. This solution is: Keep them busy! In the country community where I grew up boys and girls - all of them - were kept so busy doing the work that they had little time to become problems of any kind. The boys worked five and a half to six days a week on the farm year round. The girls were about as busy doing the cooking, the laundry, preserving food for winter, doing all the sewing, keeping the house and grounds clean, milking the cows and many other tasks around the house. I often wonder if modern parents ever think of this simple solution to the problem of what to do with Johnny and Mary. Requiring that they do much more work - that they keep busy - is, I believe, the only practical solution to the problems of teen ages.

While it is easier to find plenty for children to do on a farm there are many worthwhile things that children can do regardless of where they live. There are literally thousands of good books in the public libraries for the reading pleasure and profit of all ages. There are special study courses available. There are in these days year round recreational programs almost everywhere for boys and girls. Because they keep boys busy with something to do is why I am strong for the YMCA football, basketball, track, and other athletic programs.

Another thing - back in the long ago, people knew where their boys and girls were at all times - day and night. There was no such thing as running around at night over the country side. If there was any running around at night it was done by the cat or the dog - not by the young folks which we have so much of today.

My grandchildren ask me, "What did you do, work all the time?" Or they ask, "What did you do with no television, no radio, no movie, no stereo, no car to ride in, no swimming pool at the 'Y', no library?" I answer by saying that I would not swap my experiences in the woods, along the streams, through the fields and over the winding paths and roads of my boyhood for any or all modern experiences. Another thing, my parents provided their children with good books and encouraged us to read. Many a time I've read almost the whole night through when I found a good book - like The Last of the Mohicans for instance.

Now don't get the idea that life in the old days was uninteresting or boring. It was far more interesting I am sure than the artificial, unrealistic, exaggerated and, I think, often degrading shows seen on television. Things were much more simple in the old days. When I was a boy we looked forward to Saturday afternoon and to Sunday when we would be free to go fishing, hunting, or trapping these two days, except the monthly Sunday preaching day. We were free also when it was too wet to work in the fields and at off seasons for work on the farm.

Mollere Realty joins Gallery of Homes, Inc.

The Gallery of Homes, Inc., a national residential real estate network, has announced the appointment of Mollere Realty to membership in the Atlanta based organization. The Gallery serves some 600 independent brokers in the United States and Canada.

Dixon Lee Ashman is broker of the local real estate firm, located at 227 Coleman Avenue, Waveland now to operate under its new name, Mollere Realty Gallery of Homes.

In announcing Mollere Realty's affiliation with the organization, Henry F. Carter, president, said "with the addition of this firm to serve the Hancock County, Pass Christian and Long Beach area, residents will now have a concentrated service for people moving in and out of the community through Gallery's International relocation program". Some 27,500 families in the United States used this service last year.

As a Gallery member, Mollere Realty's office will offer clients a national and local marketing program for buying and selling residential property and the relocation and referral service covering over 5,000 communities. In addition, members benefit from the organization's professional marketing tools, educational courses and multi-million dollar national advertising programs.

A pioneer in the real estate franchising business, Gallery of Homes, Inc. was founded in 1949. The palette trademark is symbolic of the living-room setting and furnishings featured in every Gallery office along with a shadowbox display showing home availabilities.

Our parents encouraged us in these wholesome recreations. What greater thrill is there for a boy than to go out and catch a good string of fish or bag a few squirrels or quail? There was no legal hunting or fishing season back then - we could go whenever he wanted. Even going to church could be considered a form of recreation as the monthly church meeting was the only thing in that community when people met up with one another and talked and visited. There would almost always be a good crowd at church.

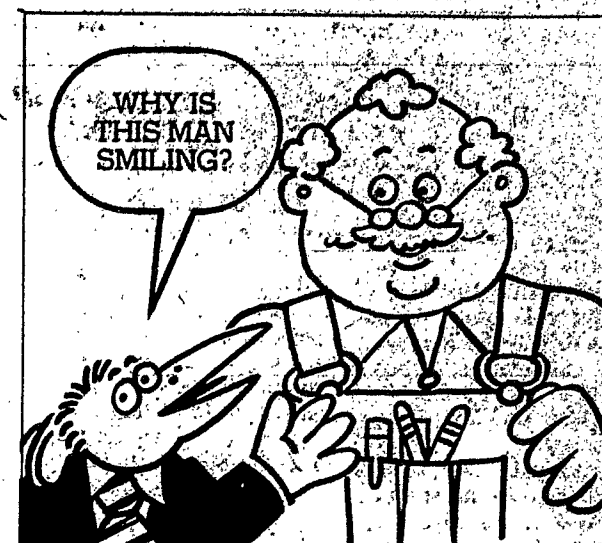

I knew where every wild plum tree was in the general area where we lived and when the plums would be ripe. I knew where the best swimming holes were, where the trees with the biggest hickory nuts and walnuts were, where the biggest yields of wild grapes grew. Many a time I have climbed to the tops of tall trees to get these luscious grapes. I knew where to find the sweetest and biggest muscadines, where the blueberries grew and when they got ripe in early spring. I watched for the big type huckleberries to get ripe and for the wild cherries to turn the right color in the fall.

I knew where the best small, swift flowing stream was for flutter mills. We made and set bird traps, setting free the inedible ones and taking the others home. We often met with other boys in a nearby pasture and played ball and other games. We never lacked for something to do or, somewhere to go. Most of the time stream, woodland, and fields, were all beckoning at once to eager boys so that often we hardly knew which offered the most in adventure or fun.

Another sport for boys was to glide down a gently sloping hillside covered in pinestraw on slick barrel staves. We would start at the top and by the time we reached the bottom we would be going at fantastic speeds.

Yes, when my grandchildren ask what I did without all the modern types of entertainment I can answer that I would not exchange them for my own boyhood pleasures.

And I repeat that I believe the solution to the teen-age problem is to keep them busy and interested in what they are doing. This will require some time and effort on the part of parents, as does anything else worth doing.

Twenty-five skippers sailed last week in the Jourdan River Classic Regatta. Rough seas and high winds eliminated sailing for the Junior Sunfish skippers; but proved a real challenge for the Flying Scot, Senior Sunfish and Lasers.

Quite a few found out that although the weather turned out to be sunny and warm, the waters of the Bay of St. Louis and the Jourdan River are still quite chilly.

The Jourdan River is narrow and winds like a snake through the marsh to the I-10 bridge. This makes for quite a tacking duel and a test of skipper and crew to stay ahead of the on-coming fleet. This was a two race series up the Jourdan River finishing in front of the club.

The over all winners in the three classes were: Ken Kleinschrodt of Buccaneer Yacht Club in Flying Scots; Walter Chamberlain, Bay Waveland Yacht Club, Senior Sunfish; Danny Killeen, Southern Yacht Club, Lasers.

Ladies Auxiliary Board will meet at 6:30 p.m., Friday, April 28.

IRS CLAMPS DOWN
J.D. Hood, 66, of Crystal Springs, was convicted in US District Court, for failure to file his 1972 federal income tax return. A farmer and custom bulldozer service operator, Hood and his wife were charged with five counts of willful failure to file federal tax returns for years 1971 through 1975. IRS states their gross receipts for period were in excess of $1 million. Hood pled guilty and drew one year jail term (suspended) plus $10,000 fine, plus court costs and placed on five years probation, plus he is required to pay all tax and penalties due. Charges against Mrs. Hood were dismissed.

A jubilant group of approximately 90 Seniors sang and extended birthday greetings to our April Seniors at the Waveland Civic Center on Monday.

It was a gala event, topped off with one of the finest shows we have ever presented. The Peice de Resistance, was Captain Arthur Homer, chaplain from the Keesler Air Force Base, in Biloxi. His variety of magic tricks held the attention of every one for 40 minutes. His audience participation tricks, namely the rope trick and hat sequence, along with many other feats of magic, amazed all especially the square circle trick, where he kept producing candy to the delight of all seniors present. It was an afternoon of fine entertainment, that will long linger in our memories.

Capt. Homer, on behalf of the senior citizens of Hancock County for your unselfishness, and your congenial response to our request, asking you to donate your services to entertain the Seniors, shows that the spirit of friendship toward your fellow man, still prevails. To you Capt. Homer and your superior officers, who released you from whatever duties were detailed for you, we wish nothing but continued success in your particular endeavors.

Congratulations to the Seniors who celebrated birthdays in April, they are: Esther Cuevas, Eugene Beaudeau, Ridgely Curry, Enola Miller, Robine Guggino, Marion Englehorn, Eugenia Blondeau, and Charles

JERRY ROMIG - director of development, Archdiocese of New Orleans, former vice president and program director of WDSU-TV, New Orleans, will be guest speaker at the Eighth Annual St. Stanislaus Honors and Leadership Convocation, May 2, on campus. Sponsored by the National Honor Society at SSC, purpose of assembly is to give students of that organization special recognition and to recognize those students who have excelled in the various school organizations.

FAIR VICTORIES

Foreign language students from Bay St. Louis Senior High School participated in the Mississippi Foreign Language Fair April 14 at William Carey College, Hattiesburg. The school was presented a first place award in the Latin skits category. Foreign language teachers at the high school are Mrs. Emily de Montluzin and Mrs. Gloria Dean. SSC captured a first in French audio-visual category and won the overall audio-visual award.

Ladner. Charles unable to attend due to a previous appointment at a very important meeting. Many Happy returns of the day Charles from all of us at the Center.

The winner of the Birthday Prize was Mrs. Enola Miller. The winner of the door prize, was Mr. Frank Bussey.

Our compliments and a Special Thank You to all of our RSVP Volunteers who helped to make this event, successful.

They are: for baking all of the delicious cakes, Annie Sulzer, Carrie Williams, Ruth Farve, Ethel Dornain, Margaret Ladner, Margaret Smith, Esther Cuevas and Gerlie Payard. Serving: Julia Leddy, Ethel Dornain, Marie Longo, Jewell Stratton, and our two non-members, who are always volunteering whenever needed, Audrey Curet, and Margaret Ladner. Telephone committee was: Cecile Galivan, Theresa Head, Anna Marsh, Maggie Dambrino, Odette Taconi, Odette Watkins, Lucy Bradt, and Jewell Stratton, who also helped to register our Seniors, along with Julia Leddy and Audrey Curet.

This has to be one of the most active weeks this organization has had for many months. Tuesday afternoon the RSVP Staff and volunteers entertained the veterans from the Gulfport VA Hospital, with a program of community singing, and refreshments of home made cakes, and beverages were served.

Wednesday was the RSVP Recognition Party, held at the Post 77 American Legion Hall on Coleman Ave., Waveland. A wonderful time as always was presented by Theresa James, and her staff. There will be more news on this event in next weeks column.

On Friday, a bus load of RSVP Volunteers, and Staff Members from both the RSVP Office, and Senior Citizens Center, will be going to Jackson, to participate in the State Wide Volunteer Day.

We hear from a very well informed grape-vine, that several of our RSVP Volunteers, have been placed to honor the most active volunteer in the State of Mississippi. This particular day will close out the Proclamation issued by Governor Cliff Finch, naming April as the first State-Wide Volunteer Participation Month - Good Luck to all the qualifying participants.

"CABOOSE"

Last Wednesday, 25 Senior Citizens, and four staff members left the Center in Bay St. Louis for a day of relaxation. This trip was planned by Irma Cuevas, for the participants in The Senior Citizens Club Social Hour. First stop was the Marine Education Center in Biloxi, where the Seniors witnessed live exhibits of salt and fresh water aquariums, a large vivarium with fish, turtles, alligators, and a display of native snakes. The trip through the Center was concluded by the presentation of a film called, "Research On The Gulf," the film covered most aspects of research being conducted at the Gulf Coast Research Lab., in Ocean Springs. Gerald Corcoran, curator at the Marine Center, and his most efficient staff, are to be complimented for all the courtesies, they extended to the Seniors.

Next stop was the Caboose, a Senior Marketing Outlet, NCSO Aides project. It is an old Caboose that has been renovated, and converted into a Craft Shop, where the Seniors from Harrison, and Hancock Counties, can display their wares, and which can be purchased by the public.

The Seniors then departed for Gulf Island Seashore National Park in Ocean Springs, to partake of a picnic lunch of fried chicken, cole slaw, French fries, rolls, and cold drinks. After the picnic was over the Seniors all boarded the bus for a return trip to the Center in Bay St. Louis, tired, but happy in thoughts of a very pleasant excursion, and a day well spent, Irma, you did a wonderful job for all of us, and as always after a very busy day, home looked good.

KILN
Something new will be added to the birthday party, and social hour, held on Thursday, May 11th, and the social hour held on Thursday, May 25th. Blood Pressure readings will be taken by Donald Decker of the American Legion Post No. 77, Waveland.

ILLNESS
We are sorry to hear that Geneva Johnston has been hospitalized, Harriet Jordan has been released from the hospital and is recuperating at home, along with Birdie Delas, Bea Farve, Elma Joubert, Angeje White, and to all Seniors who may be under the weather, we wish everyone a speedy recovery, and a fast return to us.

BEREAVEMENT
We were sorry to hear that Carrie Williams' sister passed away. Our Sympathy is with you, and your family in this your time of sorrow. Also to the family of member Eva Ruhr, on the loss of family member, Edward Fayard, the last of a well known older family in Waveland.

Buddy Morrow, of Danny's Fried Chicken, who has been a younger Senior Citizen by Adoption, our sympathy to you and yours on the death of your beloved grandmother.

Preparation speeds SSI applications

People who plan to apply for supplemental security income (SSI) payments can help speed up the application process if they get certain information together beforehand a social security spokesperson said today.

SSI is the Federal program that provides monthly cash payments to people in financial need who are 65 or older or blind or disabled. The basic monthly Federal payment is $177.80 for an individual and $266.70 for a couple. Some people receive less because of other income or their living arrangements while others receive more because they live in a State which adds to the Federal payments.

The representative also pointed out that it makes no difference how old or young a person is to become eligible for SSI payments because of disability or blindness.

The kind of information needed to process an SSI claim, includes the following: Proof of age, unless the person already gets social security checks.

The latest tax bill or assessment notice if the person owns a house or other real estate.

The latest rent receipt if the person pays rent, or information showing how much the person contributes toward maintaining the household.

Bank books insurance policies, and other papers that show what the person owns. Pay slips or other papers that show the person's other income.

If the person is applying because of blindness or disability, he or she should also have the names addresses and telephone numbers of doctors, hospitals, institutions, or clinics that provided treatment for the condition and the dates the person was treated.

More detailed information about the eligibility requirements for SSI payments can be obtained at any social security office. The address and telephone number of the nearest social security office can be found in the telephone directory under "Social Security Administration."

Community development

Two representatives from the Gulf Regional Planning Commission will survey sections of three streets in Bay St. Louis, tomorrow, Friday, for the Community Development Small Cities Program.

The pair, carrying GRPC identification cards, will survey the 500 block of Washington, and Sycamore Streets, and the 600 block of Kellar Avenue.

Only one question will be asked on residents by surveyors Ronnie Murray and Bill Reed, and that will concern the family income level. Authorized by Mayor Larry Bennett of Bay St. Louis, the survey is necessary for funding information on the Small Cities Program for water, sewage, and drainage projects.

Bay High, Hancock get to nitty-gritty in Jaycees' Almost Anything Goes day

By SHARON WALLS

The faculty contestants from Bay High knocked off the Hancock North Central entries in the first annual Jaycees "Almost Anything Goes" day, Sunday at the Hancock County Fairgrounds.

The Bay High team totalled 59 points, winning four out of five competitions to take home the days' trophy, while Hancock got 37 points. St. Stanislaus, originally scheduled to participate, was unable to fill the four person, two alternate team.

In the opening event the milk carton race, Bay runner Snuffy Smith and Hancock player Gerry Mims were neck and neck making the turn with their arms piled high with plastic milk cartons. On the return it looked like a photo finish until Mims' stack of eight plastic crates tumbled to the ground.

The egg throw, the day's second event, required pairs of contestants to stand 10 feet apart and play catch with a raw egg. After each toss, the pitcher stepped back two feet and the game continued until only one pair was left with an egg intact. Hancock's Resa Dossett and Gerry Mims were the first pair out of the game, quickly followed by team-mates Ann Cuevas and Charlie Lyles, leaving the field to Bay High uncontested.

Each group of contestants used a little teamwork in the blind football kick. With Dossett hiking the ball to blindfolded holder Mims, Cuevas coaching, and Lyles, also blindfolded, kicking the ball, the Hancock team pounded out ten good field goals. The Bay team, utilizing Gary Griffin as holder and Smith as kicker, while Pat Harris hiked the ball and Joellen Necaise coached the group, seemed to be unable to find the ball. They successfully negotiated three field goals.

For the fourth event, players were required to complete a four party relay race with a large beach ball. They were also required to pick up and carry the ball between their legs. Hancock was well ahead in the race, as Bay High seemed to have some trouble to holding on to the ball, until the final lap. Philip Terrell, Hancock substitute, was having a difficult time gaining his balance and lost control of the ball, giving Bay High a split second advantage.

The final official contest was called the "slip and slide." Ingenious Jaycees spread a sheet of visqueen plastic over the floor of the arena, then sprayed such gooey substances as shaving cream, oil, whipped cream, and cooking oil over the plastic. Sprinkling from a near-by water hose kept the whole mess wet and slippery. The object of the game was for runners from each team to slide the length of the plastic on whatever part of their anatomy seemed appropriate while holding up the skinny end of a plunger for the throwers lined up alongside to loop paper rings over. Which-ever team pinned the most rings won. Hancock, taking the first turn, speared 21 rings in three minutes, setting the goal for the other team to reach. The Bay High group, featuring alternates Mike Necaise and Gloria Biggers, got 23 hole-in-ones and was declared the winner.

"The contestants didn't know what they were getting into," commented Jay-Cee committee chairman Bill Hoffman. "No one knew what the games were going to be before they got here."

Hoffman presented Bay athletic director Wilmer Seymour with a trophy for Bay High's cabinet and awarded runner-up Hancock North Central's principal Thad Haskins with a plaque for his team.

Seymour and Haskins then got down to business, adding their respective teams in an all-out tug-of-war over a mudhole. Hancock revenged their losses of the day as Snuffy Smith, lead man for Bay High came sailing into the mud and the North Central team claimed a special plaque

Hawkette named to All-American basketball team

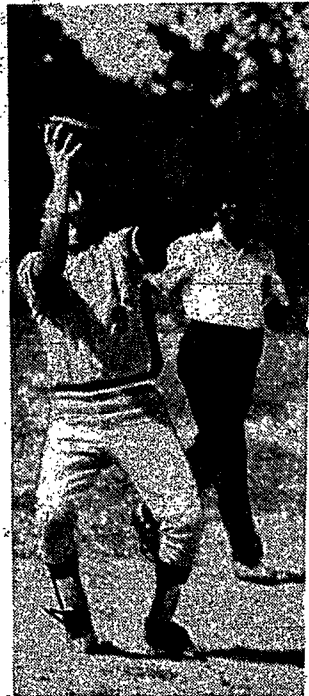

Sheila Ladner of Hancock North Central High School is one of 40 players coast to coast named to the second annual Parade Magazine All-American High School Basketball Teams.

One of eight underclassmen, Ladner was named to the second squad of the All-American Girls' Team, by major college basketball coaches, sports writers and high school coaches across the country.

Ladner, a six-foot two inch forward, set a school record for the Hawkettes with the most points in one season, scoring 584 game points. She averaged 16 points per game, hitting 47 percent from the field and 72 percent from the free throw line. The junior starter set records for most field goal attempts, most free throw attempts and most free throws made in one game, and best free throw percentage in one season. For her performance, she drew best individual percentage in one season. She is credited with 57 steals and 21 assists.

Leading the team in both defensive and offensive rebounds with 156 on defense and 159 on offense, Ladner set another school record in girls' basketball for most rebounds in one season.

Kris Stratton from Indianola Academy was the only other Mississippian named to the girls' teams. Twenty-seven states had student players named to the four teams.

BURN CENTER DONATION Chief Pete Clegg of the Long Beach Fire Department and treasurer of the Mississippi Firefighters Memorial Burn Association, recently accepted a check for $2500 from the Gulf Coast Council of Telephone Pioneers of America and the Communication Workers of America, Local 10519. Clegg said the need for the burn center is indicated in the lack of adequate facilities in the region, despite the large number of burns experienced, there being just one such center, at Greenville, and that always operating beyond its capacity.

THOUGHT FOR DAY A thought for the day from the library of Father Canisius Hayes, pastor of St. Ann's Parish: "If the whole world followed you, followed to the letter, Tell me - if it followed you, Would the world be better?"

PARISH FAIR A meeting to formulate plans for St. Ann and St. John's annual parish fair, set for June 16, 17 and 18, was held Monday, April 17, in parish hall with Father Hayes presiding.

SUPPER THANKS Father Hayes and the Parishioners want to thank all who helped in any way to make the Saturday night spaghetti supper a success.

RUMMAGE SALE St. Ann and St. John's fair committee will hold a rummage sale from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Saturday, April 29, in front of Sue and Kent's store, located next to Gulfview School, Lakeshore. Most items will be under 50 cents. Included in the sale will be a gas dryer, $25; a washer, as is, $5; and infant's clothing at 5 cents each.

HERBERT B. SPADY Second Lt. Herbert B. Spady, whose wife, Linda, lives at 336 Hiern Ave., Pass Christian, recently was assigned as a platoon leader with the 1st Infantry Division at Fort Riley, Kan.

Spady received his bachelor's degree in 1977 from Jackson State University where he received his commission through the ROTC program.

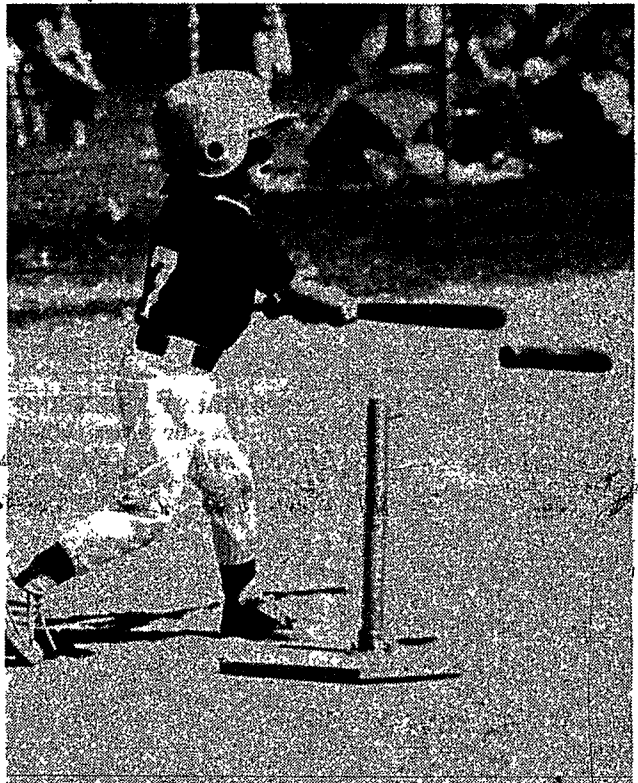

His parents, T. Sgt. and Mrs. John E. Spady, are at Hickham Air Force Base, Hawaii.

Buccaneer Crew Notes

What a weekend we've got planned for you! Of course our regularly scheduled classes will continue. Our exercise class is really doing well, and a lot of interest has been expressed in our basketry class. Friday morning sees our flower arranging class meeting in the park's recreation hall. Remember, all of these classes are offered free of charge. You pay only for the materials you use.

THIS WEEKEND Activities will begin Saturday with a horseshoe throwing contest for adults; then our 2 p.m. Games of the World Series, which will teach the games of dominoes; and a short course in basketry at 7 p.m.

Sunday will begin as usual with our church service (our sincere thanks go out to Rev. Charles Clark of the Assembly of God Church for coming out last weekend - his sermon and enthusiasm were contagious, not to mention his singing).

At 11 a.m. we'll have a craft session for kids, followed by a very special event. At 1 p.m. Piccola's dance school will put on a few numbers for the enjoyment of the campers and any local visitors, ending with an old-fashioned Maypole Dance. It's been so long, since we have seen a Maypole dance. We're really looking forward to this one.

Again, we'd like to mention we're trying to organize a Gospel Sing at Buccaneer Park for June 4. If anyone is interested please contact the park, and we can work something out. We've already had responses from four groups, so it looks like things are shaping up.

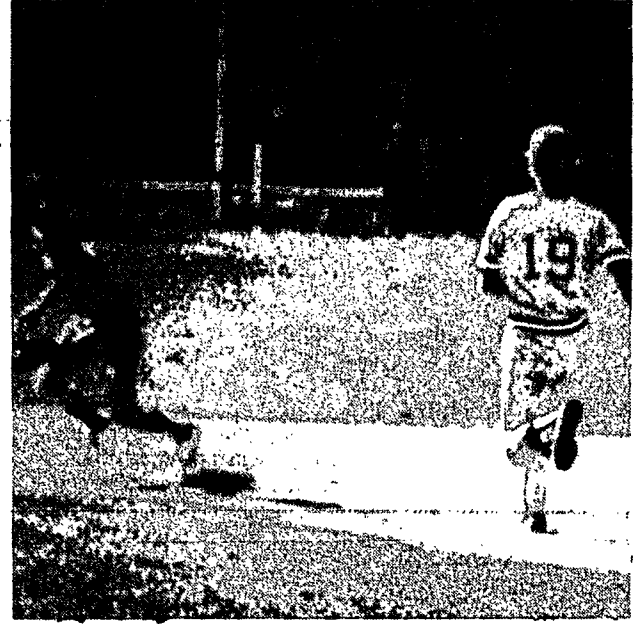

If this weekend is a pretty one, why not take a drive out to the park and enjoy yourself. Come see the Maypole dance; come join in the activities; come have fun.

CHANCELLOR TO GUIDE

LADY REBS Harrison Central's boys and girls' basketball coach Van Chancellor has accepted the head women's coaching slot at the University of Mississippi left vacant by the February 14th resignation of Coach Lin Dunn. Dunn, who has held the coaching slot for one year, attempted to withdraw her resignation after the Lady Rebs finished the season twelfth in the nation and winners of the state AIAW title. Chancellor led the Red Rebels to overall state titles in the past two with a combined record of 83-3.

Henry winds up last game

Senior pitcher Frank Henry finished out the season for Bay High with a victory over d'Iberville 7-1, Friday, at Tiger Field.

From the mound, Henry struck out 10, while pitching four hits and one walk. Then the south-paw, veteran of two years with the Tigers, slugged two hits to lead Bay's hitting, mate with a score on a line drive by Freddy Keel.

Rock-a-chaw starter Todd Edwards took the loss giving way to Scott Cox mid-way through the top of the fifth.

Warrior centerfielder Lonnie Fritz slammed a three-run homer in the top of the fifth. Third baseman Scott Davis took a double and three RBI and shortstop Keith Higginbotham hit a triple and two RBI.

d'Iberville defeated the East Central Hornets, 7-3 in the semi-finals to gain a slot in the championship play-off. The Rock-a-chaws rolled over the Notre Dame Rebels Thursday, 12-9, to reach the finals.

The Rock-a-chaws are now 15-13.

Headstart to expand county student roll

Mississippi Action for Progress (MAP), is conducting an enrollment expansion program in its Hancock County Headstart operation.

Now administering three schools, Bay-Waveland, Pearlinton, and Catahoula, Headstart in Hancock has a current enrollment of 196 students.

The program is directed at children between the ages of three and five, with or without a handicapped condition, and from a family which qualifies as being at or below the poverty level income.

Children from families above the poverty income maximums will be admitted on a space available basis.

Students accepted to the centers, funded through a grant from the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, are provided with transportation to and from the schools, health services, and a basic pre-school education.

A total of 36 people are involved in the county centers' operation, including administrators, teachers, aides, and center household personnel.

The health services include medical, dental, mental health, and nutrition (the latter providing breakfast, lunch, and a snack daily).

Educational services encompass elementary science, art, music, free play, number concepts, and out-door activities, all under direction of qualified staff members.

Other benefits to enrollees include: therapeutic services for the handicapped, and a wide range of social services.

Social services, through home visits, parent conferences, and a systematic information-communications system and other contacts, are designed to meet the particular needs of individual families in regard to their children's future educational requirements.

Parent involvement is also sought with the object that teams of parents, staff, and community people, working together to ensure continuous enrichment of the total Headstart program can best Certificates of appreciation are to be awarded by the Friends of the Hancock County Public Library, 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, May 3, in the Crawford Room, City-County Library, U.S. 90.

Lifetime members and "Friends of the Year" will receive the awards.

Reports on the March membership drive and on the Field Day and National Library Week activities in April will be tendered.

Refreshments will be served following the meeting.

Dues are $2 annually, and new members are invited. Further information is available from Mrs. Judy McCormick, president, 467-6315 or Mrs. Lynn Nybo, membership chairman, 467-7019.

Fire ant bait

available from county agent

Fire ant bait is still available to home owners from the Hancock County County Agent in five-pound or smaller bags.

The bait, mirex, can be used until June 30, after which time it is anticipated the new bait, ferriamicide, will be available.

Present restrictions on mirex ban its use by aerial application but spot treatments are permitted and encouraged.

The county office is located in the Agricultural Building on Necaise Avenue, across from St. Stanislaus Stadium.
